

The Teen Safe Driving Program offered by MAPFRE Insurance aims to help teens develop safe driving habits while providing potential insurance discounts. MAPFRE Insurance, a brand of MAPFRE U.S.A. Corp. and its affiliates, emphasizes the importance of safe driving, particularly in light of statistics from the CDC indicating that distracted driving is the leading cause of teen fatalities in the U.S. The program utilizes the teenSMART® safe driver program, provided by ADEPT Driver®, which includes interactive computer-based training, driving simulations, and in-car exercises to educate teens on safe driving practices. The program consists of three main components: computer training sessions that provide immediate feedback, parent-teen activities for real-world application under supervision, and a certification test that can be completed at home. Upon passing the test, results can be uploaded to ADEPT Driver® for certification. Interested participants can purchase the program online or by calling ADEPT Driver® with a priority code for a discounted price. Requirements for participation include a valid driver's license or permit for the teen, a responsible adult to assist with activities, a compatible computer, internet access, and approximately 8 to 10 hours to complete the program. The program is designed to minimize the risk of accidents and enhance savings on auto insurance.
